Your logo isn't your brand.

A logo is a signature. A brand is the whole handwriting.

01 The logo

The logo is just the signature.

It helps people recognise you

On a signboard, a profile picture, a receipt.

It can't tell them why to choose you

That's the job of everything around it: how you look, sound and behave.

That's why a new logo rarely fixes a brand.

One headline font. One body font. The same sizes on every page, post and document.

Pick a few. Write them down. Never improvise.

03 Voice

How you sound matters as much as how you look.

OFF-BRAND

"Dear valued customer, kindly be informed that your order has been processed accordingly."

ON-BRAND

"Hi Ada, your order is on its way and should arrive by 4pm. Track it here."

Write down 3 words for how you sound. Use them on every message.

04 Consistency

Same look. Same voice. Every touchpoint.

When everything matches, people trust you before they've met you.

YOUR TURN

Is your brand consistent?

We build brand systems: positioning, visuals, voice and guidelines, so every touchpoint looks like it came from the same business.
