New video formats (scripts follow each week)

- AI for… (Tue). Look C · Grid Desk.
- Hook: call out the audience by name ("Traders." / "Students." / "Team leads."). Then one problem, one AI fix shown on a phone, and the copyable prompt.

- CTA: keyword for the prompt (PRICE, QUIZ, POLICY, PROPOSAL).
- Build Log (Thu). Faceless. Your real screen, sped up, with marker-style annotations.
- Script shape: "Day [x] of building [thing]. Here's what worked… what broke… and what's next."
- CTA: "Follow to see if it works."
- This is the only format that needs your raw material every week.
- AI This Week (Sat). Look D · Newsroom. Three verified updates, 15s each:
- what happened
- what it means for you
- CTA: "Follow so you don't miss next Saturday's."

I research and fact-check the stories every Friday, so nothing stale or unverified goes out.

What I need from you each week

When	What	For
Wednesday	Screen recording (30–60s) + 3 lines: worked / broke / next	Thu Build Log video + post
Friday	One AI tool you tried this week + a one-line verdict	Sat "Tested this week" post
Saturday	Your view on the Sunday topic (a voice note is fine)	Sun "Bigger picture" post
Once	A yes/no on Pidgin captions for Facebook	Tue trader posts

Everything else (designs, scripts, prompt cards, the news research) I produce. Send it all in our chat, or paste the hub's Copy feedback for Claude text.

Counts

28 videos (16 already scripted + 12 new) and 28 posts across 4 weeks.

The audiences rotate: traders, students, companies and freelancers on Tuesdays, with business owners and everyone else across the rest of the week. Stories alternate global (Nvidia, ChatGPT) and African (M-Pesa, Paystack).
